Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 17-18, 25-27 and 34, 36, 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Call.

Call shows, figure 1, methods and apparatus for disseminating product information via the Internet. The product code translator 101 is the common module, which is used by and available for the manufacturers' Internet sites (supplier's web site, see column 1, line 64) and online resellers (reseller's website, column 1, line 57). There is a registration handler process, which allows access to the product translator. One method is user certificates (with related address). Similar password, certificate or digital signature protection schemes may be used to provide access to certain data (sets of information) or to data in certain forms only to authorized requesters (sets of related addresses). Online supplier and resellers inherently have payment engine functions. Since they are both selling the products in the product translator, they still use the information in the translator. Inherently, manufacturers and resellers will have their name on their own web-site meets the limitation brought from the dependent claims into the independent claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 17-18, 25-27 and 34, 36, 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Call, as described above, in view of Tobin.

Call shows all of the limitations of the claims except for specifying unique identifying information, a label, on the manufacturer's and reseller's web-sites.

Tobin teaches a system for customizing marketing services on networks communicating with hypertext tagging conventions. Column 4, lines 57-60, disclose, "FIGS. 21C, 22-28, 29A-29B, and 30 show private label Web site pages that correlate to the PC Flowers & Gifts Web site pages depicted in FIGS. 1C-10 which are customized solely with the Homearts brand." This teaches unique identifying information on web-sites in order to promote branding.

Based on the teaching of Tobin, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to specify that the manufacturer's and reseller's web-sites in Call will have unique identifying information on web-sites in order to promote branding.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 12/20/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant asserts that the prior art does not teach the claimed limitations that the first and second sets of information are related to a product. The examiner does not concur. Applicant admits that the product information in the prior art is supplied by means of an Internet link. A link meets the limitation of information relating to a product. It does not have to be the information itself to meet this limitation.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
